1st. Never hurry cows, in driving to and from the pasture. 2d. Milk as near at equal intervals

8d. Be especially tender with the cows at milking time. 4th. When seated, draw the milk as rapidly as possible, being certain to always get it all. 5th. Never talk or think of any thing beside what you are doing while milking. 6th. Offer some caress and always a soothing word when you approach s cow and when you leave her. The better she loves you the more free and complete will be her abandon as you sit at her side. We append the not uncommon

1st. Let some boy turn the cows throwing stones and switching the important: hind ones every chance he gets.

2d. Milk early in the morning and late at night, dividing the day into two portions, one of fifteen hours and the other nine.

8d. Whack the cow over the back with the stool, or speak sharply to her if she does not "so" or "hoist." 4th. Milk slowly and carelessly, and stop at the first slacking of the 5th. Talk and laugh, and perhaps a squirt milk at companion milkers, when seated at the cow.

6th. Keep the animal in a tremble all the time you are milking, and when done give her a vigorous kick.

TRIED RECIPES.

CORN BREAD .- One egg, half cup sugar, 1 pint milk; thicken with sufficient corn meal to make a stiff batter; bake 35 to 40 minutes.

SPONGE GINGER BREAD .- Two tablespoonfuls butter, 2 cups molasses, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoonful baking sods, flour enough to make a stiff batter, ginger to suit.

A CHEAP OMELET .-- A large cup of bread crumbs, soaked in milk and beaten soft; salt and pepper to taste. Fry in lard or butter and turn out in a dish the size of the pan in which it is cooked.

BREAD PUDDING .-- Cut bread and butter very thin, and then place loosely in pan for baking. Then put into another vessel 5 eggs, one tablespoonful flour, 1 tablespoonful sugar; pint molasses, milk enough to make same rate of interest and having a longer period to run, and to realize a large increase of fronts, Jamb Grates, Stove ginger, and bake at once for about capital in addition. three-quarters of an hour.

FLARY PIE-CRUST .- We agree with a writer in the Household in having gathered together all the ingredients necessary for making a rich pie crust: I rub the shortening into the flour, very slightly, instead of thoroughly, as in general advised, then put up in cold water and just barely mix the whole together; and this, I can assure Mrs. G., is the secret of making flaky pie crust.

GOOSEBERRY FOOL -- Wash and pick one quart of gooseberries; put them into a stone jar, and having covered it, let it stand in a sauce pan of boiling water until the gooseberries are quite tender, and then pulp them through a horse hair sieve. Beat up the yolks of two eggs and the white of one. To these add, by degrees, s small quantity of milk and a little pounded sugar. After this, put in the pulped fruit, whisk it all up, and add gradually half a pint of cream (or milk, if cream be not plentiful) and sugar to taste.

The following for Lemon Pies we knew to be very superior, having tasted of its fruits in our own family:

Best well the yolks of 6 eggs, then add two cupfuls of sugar, 2 lemons grated, and a tablespoonful of corn starch; then beat again, after which stir in 2 cupfuls of sweet milk. Divide the above in two pies and bake, and while baking, beat thoroughly the whites of the eggs with a cupful of fine pulverized sugar to a froth, then when the pies are done and taken from the oven, spread the sugar and egg over the top and put back in the oven to brown; if the oven is sufficiently hot, one or two minutes will be sufficient to brown the tops.
